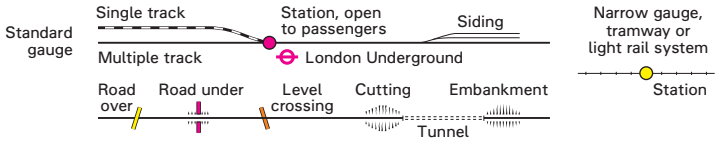
RAILWAYS



PUBLIC RIGHTS OF WAY

Rights of way are not shown on maps of Scotland

Footpath

Bridleway

Byway open to all traffic

Restricted byway (not for use by mechanically propelled vehicles)

Public rights of way shown on OS maps have been taken from local authority definitive maps and later amendments. Rights of way are liable to change and may not be clearly defined on the ground. Please check with the relevant local authority for the latest information.

The representation on this map of any other road, track or path is no evidence of the existence of a right of way

OTHER PUBLIC ACCESS

Other routes with public access (not normally shown in urban areas)

The exact nature of the rights on these routes and the existence of any restrictions may be checked with the local highway authority. Alignments are based on the best information available.

ACCESS LAND (England and Wales)

Access information point

Access land

Access land in wooded area within sand

Coastal margin

Access land portrayed on this map is intended as a guide to land normally available for access on foot, for example access land created under the Countryside and Rights of Way Act 2000, and land managed by National Trust, Forestry England, Woodland Trust and Natural Resources Wales. Some restrictions will apply; some land shown as access land may not have open access rights; always refer to local signage.

The depiction of rights of access does not imply or express any warranty as to its accuracy or completeness. Observe local signs and follow the Countryside Code. Visit: gov.uk/government/publications/the-countryside-code

All land within the 'coastal margin' (where it already exists) is associated with the England Coast Path (nationaltrail.co.uk/england-coast-path) and is by default access land, but in some areas it contains land not subject to access rights – for example cropped land, buildings and their curtilage, gardens and land subject to local restrictions including many areas of saltmarsh and flat that are not suitable for public access. The coastal margin is often steep, unstable and not readily accessible. Please take careful note of conditions and local signage on the ground.

PUBLIC ACCESS (Scotland)

National Trust for Scotland, always open

National Trust for Scotland, limited access – observe local signs

Woodland Trust Land

Forestry and Land Scotland, normally open – observe local signs

In Scotland, everyone has access rights in law (Land Reform Scotland Act 2003) over most land and inland water, provided access is exercised responsibly. This includes walking, cycling, horse-riding and water access, for recreational and educational purposes, and for crossing land or water. Access rights do not apply to motorised activities, hunting, shooting or fishing, nor if your dog is not under proper control.

The Scottish Outdoor Access Code is the reference point for responsible behaviour, and can be obtained at outdooraccess-scotland.com or by phoning your local Scottish Natural Heritage office.
